APPEALS IN DISCIPLINE & DISABILITY CASES

Completed Appeals

NC State Bar v. Cabell Regan – 19 DHC 25
Regan, of Pittsboro, was disbarred by the DHC in July 2021. The DHC concluded that, while serving as attorney-in-fact for a client, Regan breached his fiduciary duty, engaged in dishonest conduct, collected an excessive fee, entered into a business transaction with the client, misappropriated the client’s entrusted funds, did not properly maintain and disburse entrusted funds, and did not maintain required trust account records. He remains enjoined from handling entrusted funds and from serving in any fiduciary capacity. Regan gave notice of appeal but did not serve a proposed record on appeal. The DHC dismissed his appeal on March 23.

Pending Appeals

In re Phillip Entzminger - 17 CRS 1930 (Pitt County)
The Pitt County Superior Court ordered Entzminger, an assistant district attorney, to show cause why he should not be held in criminal contempt and why he should not be disciplined. The show cause order alleged that Entzminger filed a document showing disregard for the dignity of the court, demonstrated undignified and discourteous conduct that was degrading to the court and that bred disrespect for the court and the legal profession, and made false statements to the court. The court appointed the Office of Counsel to prosecute. The court acquitted Entzminger of contempt but concluded that he violated the Rules of Professional Conduct. The court suspended Entzminger for two years with the possibility of a stay after he serves the first six months of the suspension. Entzminger appealed. The Court of Appeals affirmed in part, reversed in part, and remanded for a new hearing on the appropriate discipline. The Supreme Court denied Entzminger’s petition for discretionary review on August 12, 2020. On remand, the court again suspended Entzminger for two years but allowed him to be immediately eligible for a stay upon compliance with enumerated conditions, including payment of costs. Entzminger appealed. Briefs have been filed. The case will be decided without oral argument.

NC State Bar v. Patrick Megaro – 18 DHC 41
Megaro, of Orlando, Florida, represented two clients with IQs in the 50s, both of whom were sentenced to death and imprisoned for decades after being wrongfully convicted of the rape and murder of a child. They have now been exonerated. The hearing panel found that Megaro entered into a contract with the clients when he knew they did not have the capacity to understand it, charged an “irrevocable” fee, charged an excessive fee, made misrepresentations to his clients and to tribunals, and made arguments against his clients’ interests in an effort to protect his own fee. The DHC suspended Megaro’s license for five years. Megaro may petition for a stay after serving three years active suspension upon satisfaction of all enumerated conditions, including the requirement that he reimburse $250,000.00 to the clients. Megaro appealed. His brief is due April 18.
Merritt, of Wilmington, had a sexual relationship with a domestic law client. The DHC suspended his license for one year. He appealed. His brief is due April 6.

NC State Bar v. Robert N. Weckworth, Jr. – 16 DHC 22
In October 2017, the DHC censured Weckworth, of Greensboro. The DHC concluded that Weckworth communicated with a represented adverse party and had improper ex parte communications with a judge. Weckworth appealed. On June 4, 2019, the Court of Appeals issued an unpublished opinion affirming the order of discipline with respect to the rule violations but remanding to the DHC for additional findings with respect to the level of discipline and reconsideration of the discipline, if necessary, based on the additional findings. On remand, the DHC issued a reprimand. Weckworth appealed again. Weckworth served the proposed record on appeal on April 1.

TRUST ACCOUNT COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

Seventy-eight lawyers have completed the TAC Program since its inception. Three lawyers accepted offers to participate in the TAC Program after the January 2022 Quarterly Meeting. Leanor currently supervises fifty-six participants. Leanor also monitors three DHC defendants whose stayed suspensions include trust account compliance conditions and oversees compliance with random audit corrections.

AUTHORIZED PRACTICE

The Authorized Practice Committee opened 14 new files this quarter. There are 17 files on the Committee’s January agenda for consideration.

The OOC continues to work with the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General’s Office dealing with several out-of-state lawyers and law firms that promote debt adjusting and loan modification schemes. With limited exceptions, debt adjusting is illegal in North Carolina. Numerous marketing firms and lawyers engage in this practice.

Pending, Recently Completed, and Contemplated Authorized Practice Litigation

N.C. State Bar v. Valerie Arroyo (Wake County Superior Court). At the April 2021 meeting, the Executive Committee authorized counsel to pursue injunctive relief against Valerie Arroyo, who has filed a number of tort claim actions and lawsuits on behalf of other parties. The court denied Arroyo’s motion to dismiss in October 2021 and granted the State Bar’s motion to dismiss Arroyo’s counterclaim on January 12. The court also granted a preliminary injunction prohibiting Arroyo from filing legal proceedings or preparing documents on behalf of others.

N.C. State Bar v. Brett Allen Fox (Wake County Superior Court). At the April 2021 meeting, the Executive Committee authorized counsel to pursue injunctive relief against Brett Allen Fox. Fox is a law school graduate who did not pass the bar exam but has held himself out to employers and prospective employers as a licensed attorney. On February 28, the court entered a default judgment enjoining Fox.
Prepaid Legal Services Plan Registration

The State Bar received two proposed plans during the first quarter of 2022. The proposed plans are under review.

OTHER LITIGATION IN THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS

Jennifer Ghera and Michael Pickman v. The State of North Carolina, Phillip Berger, Timothy Moore, The North Carolina State Bar, David Johnson, Union County, Jeffrey Rowell (Wake County Superior Court). Pickman filed this lawsuit on December 21, 2021, alleging that, as attorney-in-fact for Ghera, the Uniform Power of Attorney Act entitles him to advocate for Ghera’s interests in a state court lawsuit to which he is not a party in any capacity. He seeks referral to a three-judge panel pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-267.1(a1) and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-1A, Rule 42(b)(4); a declaratory judgment; and a determination that the Union County Superior Court judge who denied him this purported right and referred him to the district attorney for prosecution violated his rights under Article I, Sections 1, 7, 14 and 19 of the North Carolina Constitution. He also seeks costs, including attorney fees. The Attorney General represents all defendants.

Valerie Arroyo v. Daniel Zamora et al (NC Industrial Commission). This and the following two entries are purported tort claims filed by Arroyo against the State Bar and other entities and officials. These three files, and six additional claims Arroyo filed against other individuals and agencies, have all been dismissed and have been consolidated into a single appeal to the Full Commission. In this claim, Arroyo alleges that the State Bar failed to “stop, act or prosecute” Daniel Zamora. The Full Commission heard the State Bar’s motion to dismiss in November 2020 but has not yet ruled. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Valerie Arroyo v. North Carolina State Bar (NC Industrial Commission). In this claim, Arroyo alleges that the State Bar violated her rights by refusing to discipline licensee Zamora. The Full Commission heard the State Bar’s motion to dismiss in November 2020 but has not yet ruled. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Valerie Arroyo v. North Carolina State Bar (NC Industrial Commission). In this claim, Arroyo alleges that the State Bar violated her rights by refusing to discipline licensee Diamond. The Full Commission heard the State Bar’s motion to dismiss in November 2020 but has not yet ruled. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Kelvin Exum v. North Carolina State Bar (NC Office of Administrative Hearings). Exum filed a grievance, which was dismissed. Exum demanded an explanation for the dismissal. The OOC complied with that demand, sending Exum a written response. Exum alleges that the written response was unsolicited, that it contained false and unfounded information about him, and that it served no purpose other than to embarrass and harass him. The OAH dismissed Exum’s claim. He petitioned the Wake County Superior Court for judicial review. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Kareem Abdullah Kirk v. North Carolina State Bar Grievance Committee (NC Office of Administrative Hearings). This is the second claim Kirk, aka Kareem Abdullah Kirk-Bey, has filed against the State Bar at OAH. In this claim, Kirk again alleges that the Grievance Committee did not properly address a grievance. OAH dismissed the claim, concluding that it does not have subject matter jurisdiction. The Wake County Superior Court denied Kirk’s petition for judicial review. Kirk gave notice of appeal to the North Carolina Court of Appeals. Kirk has not perfected his appeal and the deadline to do so has passed. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Henry Byrd v. NC State Bar and State of North Carolina (NC Industrial Commission). In March 2021, Henry Byrd mailed to the State Bar a form claim for damages under the Tort Claims Act. He did not properly file and serve the document and therefore did not actually commence a tort claim. He alleged that the defendants were under “an affirmative legal nondelegable duty to provide the plaintiff with an affirmative standard of care circumscribed by North Carolina Rules of Professional Conduct…” and recited that his allegations were continued on attached pages, but they were not. He indicated that he was proceeding under the doctrines of equitable estoppel and promissory estoppel. The Attorney General undertook to represent the State Bar if Byrd successfully commenced a tort claim action. In June 2021, Byrd mailed to the State Bar a notice that he is withdrawing the purported tort claim and will instead file a §1983 action against the State Bar in the US District Court EDNC on a theory of “supervisory liability.” If he does file a federal lawsuit, the OOC will represent the State Bar.

Richard Polidi v. Colon Willoughby et al (Wake County Superior Court). Polidi surrendered his law license and was disbarred by the Wake County Superior Court in 2014. He filed this action in 2017 against former State Bar Councilor and President Colon Willoughby in his official and individual capacities, against Katherine Jean in her official and individual capacities, and against many others. It is unclear whether Polidi sued Colon Willoughby in his official capacity as the former elected district attorney of Wake County or in his official capacity as a State Bar councilor. Polidi makes vague, generalized allegations of wrongful conduct in connection with his decision to surrender his law license and consent to be disbarred. He has never served Willoughby or Jean. If he does, the OOC will represent them.

Richard Polidi v. Carmen Bannon (Wake County Superior Court). Polidi surrendered his law license and was disbarred by the Wake County Superior Court in 2014. In 2017, he filed this action against Carmen Bannon, State Bar deputy counsel, in her official and individual capacities. Polidi makes vague, generalized allegations relating to his decision to surrender his law license and consent to be disbarred. He has never served Bannon. If he does, the OOC will represent her.

Christopher Livingston v. N.C. State Bar, et al (Wake County Superior Court). Livingston is a licensee. In July 2016, the DHC suspended him for five years. The DHC order was affirmed on appeal. In 2018, Livingston filed a lawsuit against the State Bar and the district bar in federal court alleging that the district bar improperly used mandatory district bar dues. Livingston added John Silverstein (chair of the Grievance Committee that found probable cause) and Leanor Hodge (deputy counsel who prosecuted Livingston) as defendants, alleging that they selectively prosecuted him. In 2019, the federal court granted the State Bar defendants’ motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. In March 2019, Livingston filed this nearly identical action in Wake County Superior Court. Livingston obtained alias and pluries summonses but never served them. The State Bar first learned of the Wake County lawsuit in September 2019, when the trial court administrator directed the parties to prepare a case management order. The State Bar notified the trial court administrator that, because no defendant has been served, the case should be discontinued. The State Bar has heard nothing further from the trial court administrator and the case has not been scheduled for hearing. The OOC represents the State Bar defendants.
Christopher Livingston v. NC State Bar, Susannah Cox and Katherine Jean (U.S. District Court EDNC). On June 21, 2021, Christopher Livingston filed this lawsuit in the US District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina against the State Bar, counsel Katherine Jean and deputy counsel Susannah Cox. He purports to assert claims under 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1989 for alleged violations of his speech, petition, due process, and equal protection rights under the United States Constitution; his freedom of speech, open courts, law of the land, and equal protection rights under the North Carolina Constitution; and alleged “malicious administrative prosecution.” He alleges that the State Bar did not discipline lawyers who he alleged committed violations of the RPCs against him, has a practice and official policy of arbitrarily disciplining some lawyers and not disciplining other lawyers, selectively prosecutes solo practitioners, is overfunded, and its staff is underworked; that Jean and Cox violated the RPCs by requiring him to respond to letters of notice; and that Cox should have dismissed a grievance filed against him. The State Bar’s motion to dismiss is pending. The OOC represents the defendants.

Ernest Yarborough v. Satana Deberry and the North Carolina State Bar (Durham County Superior Court). Yarborough filed this lawsuit in December 2021. The State Bar learned of the lawsuit on March 22 because the court ordered a status conference. The State Bar has not been served. Yarborough was licensed to practice law in South Carolina but has been disbarred. He was never licensed to practice law in North Carolina. Yarborough seeks a declaratory judgment that, as a representative of Caring Hands and Supplementary Enrichment Education Enrichment [sic], LLC, which he describes as a “Joint Commission accredited behavioral healthcare human services agency or health care provider,” he is permitted by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 35A-1105 to file incompetency petitions to adjudicate the competence of people served by Caring Hands. Yarborough alleges that the Durham County Superior Court entered two orders concluding that doing so constitutes the unauthorized practice of law. Yarborough does not seek monetary relief, costs or attorney fees. The State Bar’s motion to dismiss is scheduled for hearing on April 26. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.

Capitol Broadcasting Company, Inc. v. Disciplinary Hearing Commission (Wake County Superior Court). WRAL-TV filed this lawsuit against the Disciplinary Hearing Commission on January 12, 2015, seeking a preliminary injunction compelling the DHC to allow WRAL to live-stream the trial of North Carolina State Bar v. Mumma, 15 DHC 20 and 15 DHC 24, and seeking an award of its expenses in bringing the action. The Mumma trial occurred in January 2016 and was live-streamed by WRAL-TV. The court stayed this action to allow the State Bar Council to adopt an administrative rule addressing media access to DHC hearings. The Council adopted such a rule, which was approved by the Supreme Court and went into effect in 2016. WRAL did not challenge the constitutionality of the rule. This case was entirely dormant from 2016 until February 28, 2022, when the court held a status conference. At a hearing on March 31, the court announced its decision to deny WRAL’s motion for preliminary injunction and to grant the State Bar’s motion to dismiss. The Attorney General represents the DHC.

HGGLBT International Express Trust v. Clerk of Superior Court, “NC State Bar and members” (NC Industrial Commission). This is a purported tort claim. writes at length about common law and alleges generally that members of the State Bar took actions to which HGGLBT objects in connection with a foreclosure. HGGLBT alleged no acts or omissions by the State Bar and identified no viable theories of recovery. The deputy commissioner dismissed the claim on February 11, 2022. HGGLBT gave notice of appeal. The Attorney General represents the State Bar.
